How is the Primary Years Programme different from other elementary School programs?

The IB Primary Years Programme provides an educational framework based on what is currently known and how young children learn. It draws on the best practices in elementary school instruction.

The IB Primary Years Programme requires all teachers in the school to plan units of instruction and lessons collaboratively around six important themes. The collaboration facilitates a carefully thought-out and sequential development of skills, knowledge, and attitudes, while the organizing themes provide both students and teachers with a rich and inviting learning environment for exploration. In brief, the six organizing themes are: Who are we; Where are we in place and time; How do we express ourselves; How the world works; How do we organize ourselves; and How do we share the planet?

In the IB Primary Years Programme, students are taught to understand that learning is about asking questions and looking for answers, which in turn may generate new, and perhaps more complex questions in need of answers. As teachers work with students through this programme of guided inquiry, they also help students understand what their relationship and responsibility is towards what they are learning. In IB Primary Years Programme character-building shares a prominent place alongside learning.

FAQ's regarding New-Admission

Can Students transfer easily from one Primary Years Programme school to another?

Keeping in mind that each school determines its own admission and placement standards, the essential elements of the IB Primary Years Programme will be the same from school to school. However, since the IB does not prescribe the curriculum to be taught, that may vary from school to school.

Do Primary Years Programme students have to take IB examination?

There is no IB Examination in the Primary Years Programme. Student assessment is organized and conducted by the teachers in the school.

How can my child enroll in the Primary Years Programme?

Only the students who are enrolled in IB-authorized schools are permitted to participate in the Primary Years Programme.

Are all children in my school required to participate in the Primary Years Programme?

Yes. The Primary Years Programme is intended for all children ages 3-12 in the school, regardless of their learning needs.

Can students with special needs participate in the Primary Years Programme?

Yes. IB-authorized schools are expected to involve all of their students in the Primary Years Programme, regardless of their learning needs. The IB refers to this as a "whole school approach." The IB expects that schools will make any necessary accommodations for students with special needs.

How does the international board or curriculum ensure quality of teaching & learning?

1. All the teachers have to be trained by International Baccalaureate Master trainees as continuous professional development (CPD).
2. Evaluation visit by IB Asia Pacific inspectors & facilitators all over the globe to observe teaching over period 3 days.
3. Akal Academy Baru Sahib new campus International Baccalaureate has completed evaluation twice in the last 10 years.
4. Akal Academy Baru Sahib New Campus was the first School beyond NCR & was authorised to run PYP (3years to 12years) by IB (Geneva) in the year 2013.
